ALL CITY DEPARTMENTS HAVE BALANCES IN BANK

City's Finances in Good Shape With Year Three-fourths Done, Says Commissioner Elubank

According to Commissioner J. J. Elubank, the department of finance, the financial condition of the city of Colorado Springs is better than at any time since the adoption of the charter form of government. Figures show that except for the emergency expense caused by the summer floods, every department of the city would have finished the year with money in the bank.

With only three months to run, the street department had approximately $2,700 left on October 1. In the health department there was $3,500, while the police and fire departments had $1,100 and $9,575, respectively. Judging from their average monthly expenses, each will have a balance left at the end of the year.

A deficit of approximately $100,000 for last year was faced by the city when it entered on the present year. A judgment against the city for approximately $50,000 for damages done to private property by the Santa Fe underpassing increased the deficit. When the budget was made, the city kept in reserve about 3 per cent of the levy to take care of the deficit.

Commissioner Elubank said yesterday that he hoped the city would reduce the tax levy next year to 24 mills at the most. The levy this year was 24.1 mills.

The extra one-half mill was for special purposes, the schools, run by the city, South Nevada avenue, underpassing, sewer extension and public comfort station.

It is possible that the city valuation next year may be reduced to some extent. With the valuation reduced, it will be difficult for the council to make any appreciable cut in the levy, but the actual taxes may be reduced.

RAIN WILL BE BIG HELP TO FARMERS, SAYS LAUCK

County Agriculturist Back From Trip Through County, Reports Crops All In and Workers Happy

Colorado farmers and ranchers have been extremely fortunate this year, according to County Agriculturist W. H. Lauck, and the rains are coming at just the right season for them. The seed crops have been safely harvested and the ground will be moisture for fall plowing.

The rains held off long enough for them to harvest their crops, their silos are filled and their winter fodder is stored away, he said yesterday. They needed moisture for fall plowing, as the ground was hard, but the rains are relieving now.

Lauck has just returned from a trip of several days in the country districts to select special seeds for farmers, and left last night to resume his work. He will try to interest the producers in the farm-to-the-table service of the parcel post.

SPENDS DAY SHOWING WHY STEEL TRUST IS MONOPOLY

Was Fanned With Monopolistic Intent, Says Henry E. Colton, Special Prosecutor

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Henry E. Colton, special assistant to the attorney general, took up the entire day in the federal district court here, giving reasons why the United States Steel corporation should be dissolved because it violates the Sherman antitrust law, as charged by the government. He did not argue with counsel for the defense that the formation of the Steel corporation was the natural outcome of conditions in the iron and steel trade prior to 1901, when the corporation was chartered in New Jersey. He reiterated the government's contention that the corporation was brought into existence by five groups of interests headed by the late J. P. Morgan.

Mr. Colton argued that there was a sharp competition among the steel companies until they were absorbed by the big concern, the creation of the Steel corporation was not a natural outcome of conditions, but a clearly thought-out scheme intended to monopolize the iron and steel trade, he declared. The large percentage of the iron and steel business of the country is controlled when organized, he said, was a clear indication that it was formed with monopolistic intent. The maintenance of high prices year after year was an indication, he declared, that the Steel corporation has a powerful influence in the trade, and that it actually monopolizes the business to a great extent.

WATER MAIN REPAIRED AFTER 28 DAYS' WORK

A broken joint in the 60-inch Bear creek water main has just been repaired by the water superintendent, the work requiring 28 days. The task was one of the most difficult the department has faced in years. Under ordinary conditions such a break is easily repaired, but because of its location under the old Standard mill dump, near Colorado city, this one caused much trouble. It was necessary to dig 22 feet through the dump in order to get at the pipe. So much water had leaked out that the dump around the pipe was a veritable quicksand.

Cotton Situation

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Today's advice from the south suggested continued irregularity in the spot cotton market. Texas shippers reported smaller offerings from the interior, which some were inclined to attribute to the recent wet weather, but there seemed to be little improvement in demand, and there were declines in demand, and the eastern belt markets. Sentiment here, however, appeared to be growing more optimistic owing to increased confidence in the formation of the pool for financing surplus supplies, and there were reports that coincidentally with the talks of shipments to Great Britain through international agreements, domestic spinners were negotiating with bankers financing of inventory purchases. RECEPTION AND TEA AT Y. M. C. A. TOMORROW

The tea will be held from 4 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon and the reception from 6 to 10 o'clock in the evening. A program has been arranged and association members and subscribers are invited to meet Miss Cross and Miss Dunham, field secretaries, who will take active part in the 10-day campaign. Miss Pitts will also give several lectures on the violin, accompanied by Miss Ruth Lee. Mrs. Virgil P. Reports on Dental Clinic Will Be Made a Week From Today

The canvassing campaign in the public schools was finished yesterday by Mrs. C. J. Wright, chairman of the committee working to secure funds for the establishment of a dental clinic for school children. A great deal of interest in being taken in the movement and a number of committees are working to secure subscriptions. Mrs. T. C. Kirkwood is chairman of the Steele school detachment of 15. Mrs. Buang is conducting the campaign at the Washington school. Mrs. Schmitt is working on a committee at the Buena Vista school. Mrs. Wallace Brown is chairman of the Colorado school committee and Mrs. Harbord is at the head of the Helen Hunt school campaign.

A committee of three, W. K. Argo, C. C. Cole and Dr. C. R. Gillett, met yesterday and discussed plans for the formation of the clinic. Their report will be presented to the subcommittee at the next meeting. The committees, working at the different schools, will hand in the reports of their campaign to Mrs. Wright next Saturday. A number of people have pledged their aid and the prospects for raising the $500 fund are bright.

FEDERAL LEAGUE SPURNS PEACE OFFERS | SPRINGS GRID TEAMS INACTIVE TODAY

ALL STORIES OF DEALS WITH O. B. ARE DENIED

Gilmore Says That All Offers of Conciliation Are Untrue; Chicago and Yankee Frameup Off

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The annual meeting of the Federal baseball league which opened in this city today failed to develop any signs of the much discussed peace pact with organized baseball. The independent association, during a long session behind closed doors, elected officers for the ensuing year, listened to various reports from the clubs composing the circuit, and then adjourned with the announcement that the meeting will be continued tomorrow morning.

As if to impress the older league with the idea that the Federals had come to stay, James A. Gilmore was re-elected president for a term of five years. In addition, he was selected to serve as treasurer for a similar period, succeeding J. A. George. Robert B. Ward, president of the Brooklyn Federals, was elected vice president and Lloyd Rickert secretary, each for a term of one year.

President Gilmore stated that the reports of all the clubs as read at the meeting showed that the league was in a satisfactory financial condition, and that the sentiment of the club owners was unanimously in favor of continuing the organization along the lines originally laid out a year ago. He denied that any initiative had been taken by the Federals looking toward peace with the National and American leagues, or that changes in the present circuit had been discussed at the meeting.

"Harmony is keynote," Gilmore added, "there was no truth in the report that the Ward brothers of this city were negotiating for the purchase of the New York Americans, or that Charles Wreghman was about to buy a controlling interest in the Chicago Nationals. Harmony and satisfaction with the 1914 season and the prospects for next year were the keynote of the meeting, it was said."

There was a tone of defiance in the talk of various officers and club owners of the league. President Gilmore said no overtures toward peace had been suggested at the meeting, either by the Federals or the older leagues. Twelve players who finished the season with organized baseball have signed Federal league contracts for 1915 and six or eight more are expected to enter the new league within a short time, according to Gilmore. He said that the league had failed to secure Tereanu, Burns and Fletcher of the New York Nationals as had been hoped, because each was bound by a three-year contract.

PRINCETON TO MEET DARTMOUTH TODAY; OTHERS FACE SPEED

Eastern Gridiron Will See
Many Good Battles
This P. M.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The schedule of the crucial period in Eastern football is indicated by the increasing importance of the week-end games. Three of the so-called big five teams face opponents tomorrow with little better than an even chance of victory.

Dartmouth will play Princeton in the new Baker Memorial stadium. Princeton's schedule to date has contained nothing but hard games. Dartmouth is more or less of an unknown quantity.

Almost as much interest attaches to the Yale-Washington and Jefferson game to be played at New Haven. In view of the battle Washington and Jefferson put up against Harvard, the outcome of the game with Yale will be awaited with interest and the result used as a basis of comparison of the work of the two teams which play the most important contest of the eastern season at New Haven on November 31.

At Philadelphia the Carlisle Indians will meet the University of Pennsylvania and another close contest is predicted.

Harvard will face Pennsylvania State with several regulars missing from the team. The game between Brown and Cornell in this city is expected to develop some spectacular open play.

The leading games to be played on eastern gridirons tomorrow with the 1913 scores where the same college teams met last season, are appended:

Dartmouth at Princeton, 6-0.
Washington and Jefferson at Yale, nothing nothing.
Carlisle at Pennsylvania, 7-7.

Pennsylvania State at Harvard, 0-29.
Michigan at Syracuse, 13-7.
Holy Cross at Army, no meet.
Western Reserve at Navy, no meet.

Georgetown at Pittsburgh, no meet.
Amherst at Wesleyan, 0-9.
Williams at Trinity, no meet.
Vermont at Colgate, no meet.

Villanova at Lafayette, no meet.
Trinity at Swarthmore, 3-6.
Muhlenberg at Lehigh, 0-7.
Brown vs. Cornell at New York City, no meet.

Rutgers vs. Tufts at Newark, N. J., no meet.

BASEBALL IS KING AND NOTHING CAN PUT CRIMP IN IT

Public Still Worships Men Who Can Furnish the Thrills

By GEORGE E. M'LINN

Baseball is king. Long live the king! When the Federal league last spring announced that it intended to smother the big league monopoly held by the American and National organizations, there was much weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth. "Good night, baseball," shrieked the crackers, the pessimists. And when the Reds induced a number of good players to jump to the new league for higher salaries, the calamity howlers pointed out the probability that the national pastime was ruined financially and artistically.

Well, the king of outdoor sports still rules, doesn't it? Of course, the game may have suffered financially—it is a cinch that some of the magnates did. A third big league may be more than America can support. However, all that is a question which may be discussed from a dozen or so angles. The fan himself, bless him, is not a bit interested in the financial side of it, except to be able to pay the quarters, halves and dollars necessary to see the battles of the diamond.

The Players Interest Him.

The fan—and by that is meant 99 per cent of the baseball-supporting public—is interested solely in the playing end of the game. He wants to see Cobb deliver the base hits. Collins make the dazzling stops. Speaker throw out a runner at the plate. Alexander battle the heavy hitters. Cravath slam the ball into the bleachers and Wagner show how an awkward man can be the personification of grace. And more important, he wants to see a contest a fight to a finish, in which victory is uncertain to the end.

When the Federal league began to raid organized baseball, the crackers said the artistic side of the game had been ruined. True enough, the Phillies were the only big league club positively "wrecked." But other good war players, and the distinctive feature, it was pointed out, was the probability that none of the great players would perform as of yore with the stacks of money in the "outlaw camp" before his eyes all the time.

Now, Mr. Fan, did the baseball war affect the artistic side of the game? Was there less hitting, weaker pitching, inferior base running? Taking the major league clubs as a whole, we think not. In fact, a careful perusal of the unofficial records for the 1914 season fails to indicate any great difference.

Statistics don't always mean much in baseball. It is a fact that this season the pennant-winning clubs were almost barren of individual big hits. It is not necessary to expend any time or space repeating what all the fans know about the superiority of team work over individual prowess.

And yet—and this is no less an assumed fact—the fans do to the ball games largely to see the individual feats. "The Cobb always attracts big crowds," "Honus" Wagner has meant thousands of dollars to the magnates; "Homerun" Baker and his big bat have been a market leader in the American league. It is only necessary to announce that Walter Johnson will pitch for Washington and the turn-of-events again.

The Pitching End of It.

It was the great pitchers who lent to the financial talk of the "wreck" with the greatest amount of interest. The baby league grabbed a number of stars; others were supposed to be dickered with them, and consequently not flinging the ball up to the mark. Again, the records do not show that there was a falling off in the twirling department.

Walter Johnson, of course, is the king of big league pitchers. In 1913 he was victorious 36 times and lost only seven starts. The Senator did not maintain that dizzy pace, but he did win 28 games this year. Last season Johnson fanned 245 batters; this year he struck out 221. Although he did not show the same mastery over the batters, Walter certainly did enough to indicate that he was not affected greatly by the uncertainties of the baseball year.

The real leader of the pitchers this season was Chief Bender, who won 37 games and lost only three. His record, however, was due to a careful and studied campaign with just enough work and not too much.

Mathewson was the virtual champion hurler of the National league in 1913, with 25 victories and 11 defeats—that is, his all-around work was best. This season the honors go to "Big Boy" James, the Boston flinger, who captured 24 games and lost only seven, and otherwise showed great skill on the mound. Last season Tom Seaver, who was with the Phillies, won the greatest number of games, or 27. He also led in strikeouts, with 161. In 1914, Alexander the Great wore Seaver's mantle. Alex won 27 games and fanned 206 opponents.

As a matter of fact, any difference in the pitching statistics is not in any way to be attributed to the Federal league or the baseball war. There were just as many good pitchers in both leagues this year as there were last; some youngsters were developed who may perform wonders in the coming campaigns.

Brainy catchers who possess good arms are mechanically proficient—are hard to find. Their work, also, does not show in the figures. But the big issue still has a clear set of back-stops. Schalk, Kiffin, Eddie Burr, Wingo—there are four youngsters who are making a name for themselves. Archer, Doon, Tapp and other veterans continue to perform up to their standard. In watching these sureties, there has been no noticeable difference because of the so-called unsettled condition of baseball.

Honestly, now, is it not a fact that the calamity howlers about baseball were unnecessary? Figures show that baseball still has the stars, the men who can hit, run bases and pitch just a little better than the majority of their fellows. But the records do not show that they obtained any great advantage because of the trouble, which was largely between the magnates, and did not affect the players.

Statistically speaking, baseball is the same national game with its big league masters. And so long as the game can thrill the fans, it will last, if the magnates want it to last.

INNOCENT BYSTANDER

Here's something for South Denver to investigate. In an evening paper there is the name and picture of Lendrum, who is alleged to be playing end for the Terrors. As Mr. Lendrum is playing with the C. C. freshmen, his dual existence should be probed.

TODAY WILL CRUSH CHAMPIONSHIP HOPES THROUGHOUT WEST

Chicago vs. Purdue Is Biggest of Battles; Illinois vs.
Northwestern

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Tomorrow's mid-western football program with last year's scores:

At Iowa City—Minnesota (4-) vs. Iowa (—);
At Sioux Falls—Notre Dame (21) vs. South Dakota (7);
At Chicago—Purdue (10) vs. Chicago (6);
At Evanston—Illinois (37) vs. Northwestern (9);
At Lincoln—Michigan Aggies (17) vs. Nebraska (—);
At Columbus—Wisconsin (12) vs. Ohio State (4);
At Ames—Missouri (14) vs. Ames (13);
At Lawrence—Kansas Aggies (9) vs. Kansas (11);

At least four games involving claims to championship honors are on the cards in the central states and on them it is likely the leaders will see their biggest lineups and their deepest strategies.

The possibility of the rugby pass when adapted to modern American football as shown in Yale's defeat of Notre Dame last Saturday, may be further revealed when the latter eleven clashes tomorrow with South Dakota at Sioux Falls. On performance the South Dakotans should furnish Notre Dame with something less of a battle than they gave last year.

The meeting between the Michigan Aggies and Nebraska at Lincoln will be fraught with interest. Last year these teams went through the season undefeated and each laid claim, with strong basis to the eastern championship.

Chicago-Purdue Hard.

Two games decisive in their nature will be played in the race for big nine honors. Chicago's hope for another clear title depends on its beating Purdue, probably the strongest opponent yet to face the Maroons, while in its contest with Iowa, Minnesota should give critics a chance to evaluate its championship possibilities. Illinois expects little trouble with Northwestern. Neither the Illinois nor Wisconsin should be forced to unveil their tactics.

Two games destined to show the status of Missouri valley affairs are on the program. Kansas tackles an old rival in the Manhattan Aggies and Missouri meets Ames. The Jayhawkers so far have made the best showing of this quarter and on form should down the Aggies. With defeats by Rolla and Oklahoma in its record, Missouri to win from the aggressive Ames eleven must have improved rapidly.

Minus Huggitt, the star quarterback, Michigan begins its eastern campaign, playing the strong Syracuse eleven. Coming out of the grueling Aggie contest and with the Harvard game only a week away, the Wolverines face a difficult problem in the contest with the York state Methodists.

Utah-Mines Game at Denver

Principal Conference
Attraction

But two games are scheduled for today in the Rocky mountain conference. The University of Utah eleven will play the Colorado School of Mines team in Denver and the Colorado Aggies will journey to Laramie for a contest with the University of Wyoming team. The Colorado university and Colorado college elevens are resting this week preparatory to their annual clash at Colorado Springs on the following Saturday and the Denver university players are engaged in practicing offensive tactics by which they hope to battle their way to the conference championship this year.

Advice from Salt Lake City are to the effect that the Mormon team is by no means as weak as last Saturday's score with the Tigers would indicate. The Miners therefore, are prepared to meet strong opposition. Utah's team arrived in Denver today.

The Colorado Farmers are said to be in good trim for their Laramie game. All conference players came through Saturday's contests in good shape it is said and there have been no serious injuries this year.

Losers Not Counted Out.

All games thus far this year are regarded by close followers of sport as being merely preliminary and do not necessarily point to the complete elimination of those who have been defeated. The Utah team is said to be full of possibilities and the inexperience of the Colorado Agricultural college team is being rapidly overcome. They have been undergoing hard practice this week, especially at passing and punting, where weakness developed last year.

The Wyoming Cowboys are nothing

TERROR-SOUTH DENVER GAME CALLED OFF BECAUSE OF WEATHER CONDITIONS

Washburn Field Ankle-Deep in Mud; Game
Will Probably Be Played Here Nov. 21;
Teams Anxious to Get Together

The game scheduled for today between the Terrors and South Denver high school was called off last night, owing to the weather conditions and the fact that Washburn field is ankle deep with mud. South Denver was notified of conditions here and it is probable that the game will be staged here on November 21, as both teams are anxious to play to decide the state title proposition. No game has been arranged for next Saturday for the Terrors.

The Terrors were unable to practice last night and held a short indoor drill in the high school gymnasium. The men are all in good condition and were anxious to play, mud or no mud, but conditions were so adverse to good football and a good crowd to help pay expenses that it was found impossible to play the game.

Weight statistics of the Terrors this year are interesting. The team will average 140 pounds, and if it wasn't for the light ends and quarterback, would tip the scale as high as the Tigers. One feature of the Terrors' play this fall has been the kicking. Both Gray and O. Richardson have been booting the ball with a vengeance, Richardson being especially good on placement work.

TIGERS WORK OUT IN SNOW AND EXPECT TO KEEP PLUGGING OUTDOORS DESPITE WEATHER

Freshmen Suffer From Chills and Scrimmage
Abandoned; Weather Is Real Setback

A nasty snow storm failed to daunt the Tigers yesterday and the C. C. warriors spent the afternoon on the campus until dark, going through their paces. However, they went through their tricks alone, as the freshmen players failed to show up and the only scrimmages that the Tigers could get was with the few second string men. Weather conditions did not dampen the spirit of the players as much as their suits and they went through the signal drill with plenty of pep and snap. The new formations given out this week are being learned rapidly. Football spies were certainly not in evidence yesterday and the practice was just as secret as if it had been staged in a vault.

But the weather jinx is nothing very funny for Coach Rothgeb and his team. Playing on the slippery grass, generally pretty wet, the play of the team naturally is slowed up to a great extent and this certainly is not weather for conditioning a team. If the weather clears by Monday and Washburn field is dried off, the team will suffer no ill-effects from the hampered practice, but if it extends far into next week then there will be something to consider. Coach Rothgeb is determined to make the best of conditions, however, and will have his men out every day. They will be out this afternoon, rain or shine, for drill on the campus lawn. This preparation for the Boulder game is a serious proposition.

defeated by their defeat by the Miners last week. Certain shifts have been made in the lineup and the fact that they will play on their own field for the first time this year will give them an added advantage.

Students at Colorado university breathed a sigh of relief when the victory eleven came through Saturday's contest unscathed. The possibility of losing even one or two of the regulars this year has been the chief fear at Boulder since the squad is smaller than usual and the amount of good material is limited.

An innovation that found favor with the numbering of each player, in the manner the spectators not personally acquainted with the gridiron warriors, are able to follow the play more closely, and learn the identity and position of each as attention is attracted by a sprint, punt or kick.

By "common sense" we mean not only building a light weight, resilient car with medium power—but one that is so well designed and well built that its development is in refinement rather than in yearly radical changes and in new features.

The latest Six-Thirty Franklin is here. It is the sixth series of this same car. It shows many refinements and improvements. In the face of increased size, additional and better equipment, the weight remains practically the same.

If you think the ordinary automobile is as comfortable as a Franklin, the thing to do is to make a comparative test. If you think a certain amount of jarring and jolting must be endured, let us give you a ride in this new Six-Thirty.

Again, the records do not show that there was a falling off in the twirling department.

Walter Johnson, of course, is the king of his league, flippers. In 1913 he was victorious 36 times and lost only seven starts. The Senator did not maintain that dizzy pace, but he did win 28 games this year. Last season John arm fanned 246 batsmen; this year he struck out 221. Although he did not show the same mastery over the batsmen, Walter certainly did enough to indicate that he was not affected greatly by the uncertainty of the baseball war.

The most leader of the pitchers this season was Chief Bender, who won 17 games and lost only three. His record, however, was due to a careful and studied campaign with just enough work and not too much.

Mathewson was the virtual champion hurler of the National league in 1913, with 25 victories and 11 defeats—that is, his all-around work was best. This season the honors go to "Big Boy" James, the Boston flinger, who captured 26 games and lost only seven, and otherwise showed great skill on the mound. Last season Tom Seaton, who was with the Phillies, won the greatest number of games, or 27. He also led in strikeouts with 106. In 1914, Alexander, the Great, won Seaton's mantle. Alex won 27 games and fanned 205 opponents.

As a matter of fact, any difference in the pitching statistics is not in any way to be attributed to the Federal league or the baseball war. There were just as many good pitchers in both leagues this year as there were last; some volunteers were developed who may perform wonders in the coming campaigns.

Brahy catchers, who possess good arms, are mechanically proficient—hard to find. Their work also does not show in the figures. But the big leagues still have a class of backstop, Schalk, Kutter, Eddie Burns, Wingo—there are our youngsters who are making a name for themselves. Archer, Doolin, Laap and other veterans continue to perform up to their standard. In catching there surely has been no noticeable difference because of the so-called unsettled condition of baseball.

Honestly, now, is it not a fact that the calamity howlers about baseball were unnecessary? Figures show that baseball still has the stars, the men who can bat, run bases and pitch just a little better than the majority of their fellows. But the records do not show that they obtained any great advantage because of the trouble, which was largely between the magnates, and did not affect the players.

Statistically speaking, baseball is the same national game with its big league masters. And so long as the game can thrill the fans, it will last. If the magnates want it to last.

INNOCENT BYSTANDER
Here's something for South Denver to investigate. In an evening paper there is the name and picture of Leander, who is alleged to be playing end for the Terrors. As Mr. Leander is playing with the Terrors, his dual existence should be probed.

TODAY WILL CRUSH CHAMPIONSHIP HOPES THROUGHOUT WEST

Chicago vs. Perdue Is Biggest of Battles; Illinois vs.
Northwestern

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Tomorrow's mid-western football program with last year's scores:

At Iowa City—Minnesota (1) vs. Iowa (0).
At Sioux Falls—Notre Dame (12) vs. South Dakota (0).
At Chicago—Purdue (10) vs. Chicago (0).
At Evanston—Illinois (8) vs. Northwestern (0).
At Lincoln—Michigan Aggies (1) vs. Nebraska (0).
At Columbus—Wisconsin (12) vs. Ohio State (0).
At Ames—Missouri (12) vs. Ames (0).
At Lawrence—Kansas Aggies (0) vs. Kansas (0).
At least four games involving claims to championship honors are on the card in the central states and on them it is likely the leaders will see their strongest lineups and their deepest strategy.

The possibility of the rugby pass when adapted to modern American football as shown in Yale's defeat of Notre Dame last Saturday, may be further revealed when the latter eleven clashes tomorrow with South Dakota at Sioux Falls. On performances the South Dakotans should furnish Notre Dame with something less of a battle than they gave last year.

The meeting between the Michigan Aggies and Nebraska at Lincoln will be fraught with interest. Last year these teams went through the season undefeated and each laid claim, with strong basis to the "eastern championship."

Chicago-Purdue Hard.

Two games decisive in their nature will be played in the race for big nine honors. Chicago's hope for another clear title depends on its beating Purdue, probably the strongest opponent yet to face the Maroons, while in its contest with Iowa, Minnesota should give critics a chance to estimate its championship possibilities. Illinois expects little trouble with Northwestern. Neither the Illinois nor Wisconsin should be forced to unveil pinch tactics.

Two games destined to show the status of Missouri valley affairs are on the program. Kansas tackles an old rival in the Meridian Aggies and Missouri meets Ames. The Jayhawkers so far have made the best showing of this quarter and on form should down the Aggies. With defeats by Rolla and Oklahoma in its record, Missouri will have improved rapidly.

Minnesota begins its eastern campaign playing the strong Syracuse eleven coming out of the grueling Aggie contest and with the Harvard game only a week away, the Wolverines face a difficult problem in the contest with the York state Methodists.

TWO GAMES ON WET FIELDS THIS P. M.

Utah-Mines Game at Denver
Principal Conference
Attraction

But two games are scheduled for today in the Rocky mountain conference. The University of Utah eleven will play the Colorado School of Mines team in Denver and the Colorado Aggies will journey to Laramie for a contest with the University of Wyoming team. The Colorado university and Colorado college elevens are resting this week preparatory to their annual clash at Colorado Springs on the following Saturday and the Denver university players are engaged in practicing offensive tactics by which they hope to battle their way to the conference championship this year.

Advised from Salt Lake City are to the effect that the Mormon team is by no means as weak as last Saturday's score with the Tigers would indicate. The Miners therefore, are prepared to meet strong opposition. Utah's team arrived in Denver today.

The Colorado Farmers are said to be in good trim for their Laramie game. All conference players came through Saturday's contests in good shape it is said and there have been no serious injuries this year.

Losses Not Counted Out.
All games thus far this year are regarded by close followers of sport as being merely preliminary and do not necessarily point to the complete elimination of those who have been defeated. The Utah team is said to be full of possibilities and the inexperienced of the Colorado A. M. C. college team is being rapidly overcome. They have been undergoing hard practice this week, particularly at passing and punting, where weakness developed last week.

TERROR-SOUTH DENVER GAME CALLED OFF BECAUSE OF WEATHER CONDITIONS

Washburn Field Ankle-Deep in Mud; Game
Will Probably Be Played Here Nov. 21;
Teams Anxious to Get Together

The game scheduled for today between the Terrors and South Denver high school was called off last night, owing to the weather conditions and the fact that Washburn field is ankle deep with mud. South Denver was notified of conditions here and it is probable that the game will be staged here on November 21, as both teams are anxious to play to decide the state title proposition. No game has been arranged for next Saturday for the Terrors.

The Terrors were unable to practice last night and held a short indoor drill in the high school gymnasium. The men are all in good condition and were anxious to play, mud or no mud, but conditions were so adverse to good football and a good crowd to help pay expenses that it was found impossible to play the game.

Weight statistics of the Terrors this year are interesting. The team will average 160 pounds, and if it wasn't for the light ends and quarterback, would tip the scale as high as the Tigers. One feature of the Terrors' play this fall has been the kicking. Both Gray and O. Richardson have been booting the ball with a vengeance, Richardson being especially good on placement work.

TIGERS WORK OUT IN SNOW AND EXPECT TO KEEP PLUGGING OUTDOORS DESPITE WEATHER

Freshmen Suffer From Chills and Scrimmage
Abandoned; Weather Is Real Setback

A nasty snow storm failed to daunt the Tigers yesterday and the C. C. warriors spent the afternoon on the campus until dark, going through their paces. However, they went through their tricks alone, as the freshmen players failed to show up and the only scrimmage that the Tigers could get was with the few second string men. Weather conditions did not dampen the spirit of the players as much as their suits and they went through the signal drill with plenty of pep and snap. The new formations given out this week are being learned rapidly. Football spies were certainly not in evidence yesterday and the practice was just as secret as if it had been staged in a vault.

But the weather jinx is nothing very funny for Coach Rothgab and his team. Playing on the slippery grass, generally pretty wet, the play of the team naturally is slowed up to a great extent and this certainly is not weather for conditioning a team. If the weather clears by Monday and Washburn field is dried off, the team will suffer no ill effects from the hampered practice, but if it extends far into next week then there will be something to consider. Coach Rothgab is determined to make the best of conditions, however, and will have his men out every day. They will be out this afternoon, rain or shine, for drill on the campus lawn. This preparation for the Boulder game is a serious proposition.

Daunted by their defeat by the Miners last week, certain spirits have been made in the lineup and the fact that they will play on their own field for the first time this year will give them an added advantage.

Students at Colorado university breathed a sigh of relief when the varsity eleven came through Saturday's contest unscathed. The possibility of losing even one of two of the regulars this year has been the chief fear at Boulder since the squad is smaller than usual and the outfit on short material is limited.

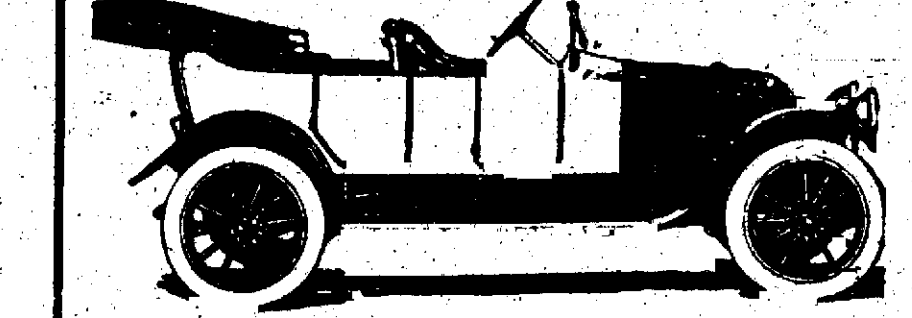

An innovation of this year is the numbering of each player's jersey. The spectators, not personally acquainted with the team, are enabled to follow the players more closely, and hence the publicity and position of each man attracts attention as the regulars this year has been the

The Franklin Idea Is Common Sense

By "common sense" we mean not only building a light weight, resilient car with medium power—but one that is so well designed and well built that its development is in refinement rather than in yearly radical changes and in new features.

The latest Six-Thirty Franklin is here. It is the sixth series of this same car. It shows many refinements and improvements. In the face of increased size, additional and better equipment, the weight remains practically the same.

If you think the ordinary automobile is as comfortable as a Franklin, the thing to do is to make a comparative test. If you think a certain amount of jarring and jolting must be endured, let us give you a ride in this new Six-Thirty.

Getting Rid of Surplus Churches in Washington

One State Takes Up Definitely the Remedying of the Overchurching Evil: All Denominations Agree on Plan; Average American Town Has Too Many Churches and Too Little Religion; Some Surprising Statistics.

BY THE RELIGIOUS RAMBLER

One great denomination used to boast that it built one new church a day. Now a federation of denominations could make a still greater hit by closing one church a day for a generation.

The country is so seriously overchurched that out in some few days the Home Missions council of Western Washington, representing all leading denominations, unanimously agreed upon a plan for eliminating the overlapping churches with which the state is burdened. This plan is to make a business of closing one church a day for a generation, which mistaken denominational zeal has saddled upon these new communities.

Warning Against Overchurching.—The Washington plan is in accordance with the principles adopted by the Home Missions council of the United States; a body officially representing all the important Protestant communions, which in the past five years has done radical work in undoing the mistakes caused by the competitive spirit of the preceding 50 years.

The general public does not yet know that this all-powerful body, in obedience to the new spirit of the times, is gradually reforming the deplorable conditions of overchurching throughout the land.

When members of a local church are recalcitrant and nowhere is human nature more stubbornly exhibited than in religious factionalism, home mission aid will be withdrawn from it. Practically all of these weak, struggling and competitive congregations are the remnants of home mission aid. When the churches are put on a reasonable basis of cooperation, and many millions of dollars will be released annually for a cause for general relief, that church leaders are at least taking in hand the scandal of communities with too many church buildings, underpaid pastors and religion at a low ebb.

POTASH DISCOVERIES—That West Texas or Southwest Oklahoma, cotton potash deposits which when developed will break the hold on the world's supply of that invaluable fertilizer material by the German Kall syndicate, is an announcement coming from headquarters of the Rock Island line in Chicago.

This is based on discoveries that have just been brought to the attention of the company's mining and agricultural departments. Significance of these discoveries is emphasized by the fact that imports of potash salts to all forms, during 1913, reached a total value of nearly $11,000,000 and that the German mines now closed to the outside world by the war have hitherto been the only dependable supply of a mineral salt that has many commercial uses. Drilling for water by the railroad company at Adams and Glen Rio, Texas, near the New Mexico line, resulted in the discovery, which at the first named point showed extensive beds of salt.

When a depth of 400 feet was reached in the Glen Rio well it was found that the water contained 77 pounds of alkali salts per 1,000 gallons, which is almost a saturated solution. The percentage of potash is to be determined by a chemical analysis. The water is so strongly alkaline, however, that it is unfit for boiler use and it cannot be improved by chemical treatment.

These results, in connection with a similar discovery at Spur, in Dickens county, Texas, about 200 miles southward, indicate to experts that the water has been leaching potash deposits of great magnitude. Chemical analysis of the water at Spur shows potash to constitute more than 54 per cent of the total salts. Presence of these salts also was disclosed in analysis of the rock through which the drill passed.

The geology of the region indicates that the dip of the rock strata is westward and that, therefore, the potash deposits touched by the water from these deep wells will be found at a considerable distance eastward of the wells. In the opinion of Mr. Carl Schuch, the Rock Island line's mining expert, the probable locality is southwestern Oklahoma west of Clinton and possibly in the vicinity of Mann.

church edifices in the United States, which experts say are about twice as many as are needed. The property value is given as a billion and a half dollars.

Churches Multiply, Religion Declines.—Confronted by the startling fact that church attendance is declining throughout the land, that churches are going backward, and that the ministry is both underpaid and losing its former prestige and leadership, the religious leaders of the land have turned to such stern measures as are reported from the state of Washington. The situation demands heroic action.

In the country, the conditions are especially grave. Henry Wallace, the eminent agricultural and rural church authority, says that the plight of the country churches may be summed up roughly as follows: One-fourth of the rural churches of the United States are prospective; one-fourth are standing still; one-fourth are dying; and one-fourth are dead.

He, and all other experts who have diagnosed the situation, point their finger at competitive churchism as a prime factor in the case. Instances by the thousands have been gathered down in Salisbury, Md., to cite one example, where two village churches directly across the street from each other. Both churches are supported by the same community. Both have the same denominational doctrines, methods and history, for one is Methodist Episcopal North and one is Methodist Episcopal South. To add a dramatic touch to the story, they were built by brothers, who fought on opposite sides in the Civil war.

Forcing Congregations to Be Good.—The plan adopted in Washington for cutting down the number of churches is substantially that recommended by the Home Missions council. One by one the excess of overchurching communities will be taken up. In some cases the congregations will be disbanded. In others, outright union will be effected, under some one denomination, for all leaders agree that every congregation needs to belong to some denomination, to give it a health of outlook and relationship and stimulus.

When members of a local church are recalcitrant and nowhere is human nature more stubbornly exhibited than in religious factionalism, home mission aid will be withdrawn from it. Practically all of these weak, struggling and competitive congregations are the remnants of home mission aid. When the churches are put on a reasonable basis of cooperation, and many millions of dollars will be released annually for a cause for general relief, that church leaders are at least taking in hand the scandal of communities with too many church buildings, underpaid pastors and religion at a low ebb.

In the opinion of Mr. Carl Schuch, the Rock Island line's mining expert, the probable locality is southwestern Oklahoma west of Clinton and possibly in the vicinity of Mann.

The discoveries have been called to the attention of Mr. E. W. Parker, state geologist in charge for the United States Geological survey at Washington, D. C., by Mr. Schuch, who makes the following statement in his letter: "I am wondering how we can best interest people in the prospecting and development of these deposits, which must include potash and salt in very large quantities because the different drill records which I have examined indicate solid salt beds from five to 50 feet in thickness. While the war is temporarily pressing our industries, I believe it will serve more than any other calamity which could have befallen this world to teach us to depend more upon the utilization of our own products and the production of such new domestic trade as is possible. We are also to develop here if we will only make up our minds to do so."

The matter has also been called to the attention of salt producers and fertilizer manufacturers with a view to inducing a thorough prospecting of the region.

ALLIED CAVALRY MAKES MAGNIFICENT CHARGES

Reconnaissance Distinguished for Old Style of Battle "Kitties" Taking Prominent Part

FROM THE BATTLE FRONT, Oct. 23.—The allied cavalry has distinguished itself in magnificent charges, galloping like those in the old style of battle. A light brigade, composed of British and British but and mounted rifles, led the way, and were followed by heavy dragons, lancers and cuirassiers.

The Scotch infantry also took a prominent part in the work. The "Kitties" charged a battery of heavy German artillery and machine guns which made the passage of the allied field artillery difficult. The Scotch made their way through the barbed wire entanglements, reached the German guns and disposed of their artillerymen and made the deployment of the allied guns possible. Despite the frequent fire of the German machine guns which were brought into play too late, the allies gained the position.

The scene of the battlefield is a striking one, with the blowing of frightened cattle and the bleating of sheep in the burning outcrops of farms mingled with the sharp reports of the cannon, the rattle of the machine guns and the patter of the rifle fire. Troops can be seen advancing across the open in widely spread lines. As the fall all around, cut down by shells and the ground is furrowed with the bullets of the German in one marshes which are numerous in this country, it is be-

Just a Reminder to the Public

You all know that in Colorado Springs there exists a meat combine, and I am now proceeding to bust it, and your patronage is solicited in order to do it. The packers have refused to sell me supplies, because I am offering the price of meat, but I cannot hardly blame them, as the butchers went to them and told them that if they sold me they need not expect any business out of them.

I have got a straight carload of beef that my uncle bought for me in Kansas City, that I am offering for today and all next week at the following prices for cash.

NOTE—Mail or out-of-town orders will receive our personal and prompt attention.

HUNGARY CANCELS ITS CONTRACT WITH CUNARD

LONDON, Oct. 23.—In a dispatch from Amsterdam the correspondent of "Reuters Telegram" company says the Hungarian government has decided to withdraw the concession granted to Cunard Steamship company for the transport of emigrants and has announced that the contract with this company is at an end. It is declared that the war already has forced the Cunard line to violate clauses of the contract, hence the decision to cancel it.

Old Lady's Sage Advice

Knoxville, Tenn.—Miss Mamie Town, of 102 W. Main Street, this city, says: If you had seen me, before I began to take Cardui you would not think I was the same person. Six doctors thought I was dead. I could hardly get out of bed or walk a step. At last an old lady advised me to take Cardui, and now I can go most anywhere. All ailing women need Cardui as a gentle, refreshing tonic especially adapted to their peculiar ailments. It is a reliable, vegetable remedy successfully used for over 50 years. You ought to try it.

No Looking Back in Colorado Springs

New Evidence Constantly Being Published

Since the long succession of Colorado Springs reports were first published in the local press there has been no looking back. Colorado Springs evidence continues to pour in and better still, those whose reports were first published many years ago verify all they said in a most hearty and unmistakable way. Read the experience of Mr. J. E. Carter, 417 W. Williamette Ave. He says: "I had a terrible case of kidney trouble. The kidney secretions pained when passing and my back ached. Pains encircled my body like a tight band. I had a steady ache through my kidneys, sides and hips. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

GERMAN CRUISER SINKS 13 BRITISH MERCHANTMEN

Karlsruhe Has Career in Atlantic as Eventful as the Emden in the Indian Ocean

LONDON, Oct. 23.—A dispatch from Tenerife, Canary Islands, to the Daily Mail, under date of Thursday, reports that the German cruiser Karlsruhe has sunk 13 British merchantmen in the Atlantic. Life Suffers Much

The city of Lille's commercial quarter has suffered very much while the old church of St. Maurice is almost destroyed.

The soldiers at the front although most of them are very young men, are beginning to look and act like veterans. Many of them have grown beards during the 11 weeks of constant fighting. Their faces are bronzed and their clothes covered with dust. They appear perfectly fit and full of ardor and ready to do anything. A bicycle dispatch rider, after having carried orders to the brigadier general, placed his motorcycle against a tree while he smoked a cigarette. Shells burst all around him and one struck his machine, which was destroyed. The cyclist was then ordered to take the reply of the brigadier general to the divisional commander. In carrying out his task he crossed the fire-swept fields. Then he encountered a party of Germans but jumped into a river and escaped by remaining in the water for eight hours. Eventually he got his message safely to headquarters.

A French infantry second lieutenant of the French infantry when all but 20 of his company were killed and wounded, took command and captured 25 German. He was twice wounded.

It is being captured everywhere in the vicinity of the fighting line. A French general selected an apple tree for observation purposes. A shower of shells immediately fell all about him and caused him to retire. At the same time a man waving a flag from an adjacent farm. The man was caught and was found to be a German. He was shot.
